

Expect No Moves To Close UMES

By Joan Stack

A recommendation that the State Board for Higher Education study the possibility of closing the University of Maryland Eastern Shore has caused much concern here on the part of SSC and UMES students as well as the administrations of both institutions.

The recommendation came from John Donaldson, legislative analyst for the House and Senate finance committees, who based his proposal on the economic matter of UMES' high cost for a relatively small number of students.

UMES Chancellor William P. Hytche said, "I was disappointed, surprised and very sorry that such a suggestion was made by a legislative analyst before the Maryland State Board for Higher Education completed the comprehensive study of the college system it is now conducting."

The SBHE is preparing a study of the entire college and university system which is to be completed by July 1, 1978.

Norman C. Crawford, SSC president, said, "What the proposal did was identify the problem of limited enrollment at UMES. If UMES can significantly increase its enrollment, then I don't think the legislature will see any problem."

Both Hytche and Crawford said they felt that UMES would not be closed, and that no action will be taken until the completion of the SBHE's study. Said Hytche, "He (Donaldson) took our entire budget and divided it by the number of students to get an exorbitant cost per student."

He said UMES is eligible for federal funds for research and for its high number of students from low-income families, which should not have been included in the total budget.

SSC President Crawford said, "We want to do everything we can to work with the students and staff at UMES to help correct the problem in the best educational interest of both institutions."

He said he has been in constant contact with Hytche since the proposal was made public last week to try to find some solutions. "There are no easy solutions just as there isn't any one person to blame for the situation," said Crawford. "It is a predictable consequence of integration."

Before the two schools were integrated, SSC was the white school on the Eastern Shore and UMES, then called Maryland State College, was the black institution.

Crawford said, "We can well understand how the students, faculty and administration at UMES feel in light of a recommendation like this because in 1970 a recommendation was made to close

Campus Police Arrest Local Man In Stabbing Of Student In Dorm

By Joan Stack

A resident of Wicomico dorm was stabbed in the back twice Friday night while taking a shower, by a man who had been "hanging around" the dorms for most of the night.

James C. Washington, 19, was preparing to take a shower Friday night when a man he "never saw before" started to bother him, asking him "where the girls were." Washington told him to leave him alone.

"Suddenly he hit me," Washington said. "I didn't know I'd been knifed, I thought he just hit me."

Washington chased him downstairs. "When I finally saw blood all over my arm, I stopped chasing him and then the RA's came." Washington was taken to PGH where two superficial knife wounds were treated. He was released the same night.

William Disharoon, 30, of Fruitland, was charged with intent to commit murder after he was arrested by campus police officer Wayne Hurley. He was positively identified by Washington.

Hurley said, "Disharoon apparently left Wicomico dorm and offered another SSC student $15 to take him home." The student drove him to his home in Fruitland and waited outside for Disharoon to get the money. "Disharoon's wife then came out and told the student to hit the road because he (Disharoon) was loading his shotgun," Hurley said.

The student left immediately and did not return to campus until Sunday night. He informed the campus police of the incident and this led to the identification of Disharoon. Hurley said Disharoon then fired at the car of Fruitland police officer Joseph Hanson who was passing by, shattering his windshield. He was arrested Friday night and charged with intent to kill a police officer.

"After the student who drove him home came to us Sunday night we put it all together and determined that Disharoon was our suspect," Hurley said.

Hurley said Disharoon was re-arrested again Tuesday morning while in custody. A bond hearing was scheduled for later in the morning.

Disharoon was apparently under the influence of drugs and alcohol at the time of the incident, according to Hurley. "He doesn't remember anything about it," said Hurley.

He entered Wicomico sometime early Friday evening, passing the resident assistant at the central desk. He was also seen by other students, another resident assistant among them, and he approached a number of students asking where "the party was."

He then went up to the second floor of Wicomico dorm, where he met Washington on his way to the shower.

Robert A. Lovely, director of residence halls, said the resident assistants, and the residents themselves, determine the security policies for all dorms. "The resident assistants are supposed to question anyone they think is out of place, but the residents also have to do that if there is going to be any security in the dorms."

He said apparently no one thought Disharoon was suspicious.

U of M Gymnastics Group Vaults And Tumbles Here

The University of Maryland Gymkana Troupe will be in Salisbury State's Tawes Gym Friday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. for a performance sponsored by the College's Gymnastics Club. Tickets for the show will be available at the door for $1.50 for adults and $.75 for students.

The Troupe will feature demonstrations in all the competitive events for both men and women. In addition to the events normally seen, troupe members will exhibit Swedish box vaulting, rhythmic gymnastics which includes hoop and rope routines, pyramids, tumbling, and comedy routines on the parallel bars, trampoline and in floor exercises. There will also be chair balancing and women's triples and men's doubles in hand balancing.

According to Bob Morris, gymnastics instructor at Salisbury State: "This is an excellent opportunity to see a good show and some excellent gymnastics. It is exciting and entertaining for everyone from three to 100."

The Maryland Gymkana Troupe first began in 1946 and since then, it has been working towards its goals which include the extension of fellowship and good will, the stimulation of interest in and an understanding of gymnastics, and the development of the Troupers both physically and mentally.

The Troupe promotes the learning process and consequently is an educational experience for its members. Few of its members came into their first practice with any great degree of proficiency in gymnastics, many of them had no experience whatsoever. However, with the aid of returning old troupers and Coach George Kramer and his assistant Joseph Murray, newcomers quickly find themselves "getting into shape," progressing to more advanced skills, and working into one or more of the Troupe's many acts.

The University of Maryland Troupe is one of the oldest and last fully performing exhibitional gymnastic organizations in existence in the United States.

Work On Beer License Here

In the midst of the Maryland State Legislature's proposal to raise the legal drinking age to 21, some students at SSC are still optimistically working to obtain a permanent beer license for SSC.

Dave Bollinger, student member of the Board of Visitors, said, "If the legal drinking age is raised, that will kill this whole program." He said he is continuing to obtain information on how to go about it anyway.

"I'm not sure how I personally feel about it," Bollinger said. "I'm just trying to find out why we don't have one when other state schools do."

Morgan State University has a permanent license, as does the University of Maryland in College Park. Towson State University is in the process of obtaining one also. They had a problem over whose names will appear on their license.

Bollinger said the license must be obtained from the Wicomico County liquor board, which grants SSC as many one-day licenses as it requests. "But to think about establishing a pub on campus, one-day licenses are not practical."

"As far as a pub is concerned," Bollinger said, "it's also a matter of space. We've been investigating some places on campus but so far, we haven't found anything."

SGA President Tim Ragan said some suggestions included extra space in the basements of Holloway Hall and Caruthers, as well as the buildings on the Allen property.

Bollinger said he is approaching the issue with caution, and trying to gather as much information as possible before any action is taken. He has written to Morgan State University to find out how they got their license.

When he has enough information, he will submit his proposal to the Board of Visitors, an advisory group for the president of the college.

"Their reaction means a lot," he said. "They are a group of influential and intelligent people who represent the community. Their support would really help us."

But he said the entire issue hangs on the action of the Maryland State legislature. "If they raise the drinking age to 21 we might as well scrap the whole thing," Bollinger said. "There just aren't that many students over 21 here."

EDITORIALS

What's It All About?

It has come to the attention of The Flyer staff that many students are not aware of what the newspaper has to offer in the way of a communications tool. We often hear comments, or complaints, that a particular club or organization is not covered enough, or their programs are not listed in our calendar. For this reason we'd like to clear the air about who gets in The Flyer and why.

This newspaper has no affiliation with any other campus group or organization. We are funded by the students' $30 activity fee (and for this reason our prime objective is to cover news that is important to students).

Since we operate on part of students' activities fees, we are a recognized organization of the SGA just as all full-time students are members of the SGA. But the connection stops there.

Since most students are not attending SGA meetings, for whatever reason, we will be printing a summary of all action taken in their last meeting and an agenda for the next. This way, if something is coming up that is of special interest to a particular student, he'll be able to get to the meeting. This is strictly a service to the students.

We do not necessarily hold the same opinions as the SGA Executive or General Boards. While we may support them in some actions, we will oppose others, and are free to express those feelings in the pages of The Flyer.

All students have this right, and are welcome to take opposition with us, or anyone else, by means of our commentary section or Letters to the Editor. Address all mail to The Flyer, Box 715, College Bookstore (campus mail is free). We would like to hear what you think.

We also offer organizations another method of publicity, also free, by means of our Campus Calendar. Any event will be listed if we receive a note by the Monday before Wednesday publication.

Any student can advertise in The Flyer (this is free too) by means of a classified ad. If you have anything you want to sell, or buy, or you're looking for a roommate, write it up and get it in by Monday before publication. We'll print it.

And finally, for student organizations that feel they are not getting enough coverage for their events, let us know when you're planning something. Give us a call, or drop a note in the mail, we'll be there. But we can't cover things we don't know about.

Draft - Yes, Drink - No

A bill was recently introduced in the Maryland State legislature to raise the legal drinking age in the state to 21 for everything, a change from the existing law which allows 18 - 21 year olds to drink beer and wine.

We are amazed and angered by this action. The justification for it is as funny as it is sad. It seems that there has been an increase in drinking among high school students. The Maryland legislature feels that people begin drinking two to three years before it is legal, so by raising the legal age they think they will eliminate high school drinkers.

As anyone here knows, once something is introduced into the high schools, it's going to stay there. The juniors will keep learning from the seniors, the sophomores from the juniors, etc. It's the same story with drugs; they're illegal everywhere but they're still in the high schools and they're going to stay there.

But there's another side to this issue, a much more disturbing one, in our opinion. To deprive one group of citizens of their rights to protect another one is still depriving the original group of its rights, no matter how you try to justify it. At 18 you are old enough to vote, old enough to enter into sexual relations, old enough to get drafted, but not old enough to get a mixed drink. Now you won't even be able to get a beer. So everyone can turn to drugs (still illegal, but probably easier to get than beer if this law goes through).

Another reason some people want the age raised is an increase in the number of traffic accidents among young people. We think if you took a look you'd find an increase in the number of traffic accidents among all groups. So why single this one out? Because it's the only group that will let you get away with it.

It's the only group that has no representation in the legislature, no lobbying committees, no money. It's the group that gets screwed on insurance premiums, and puts up with it, so why not this? The Establishment has found a new group of "niggers" and they're doing a job on us.

Student Painters Are Commended

Dear Dr. Crawford:

Last month, through the good offices of Jim Burgess of the art faculty, seven students from the college contributed some of their free time to painting two rooms in the old City Hall, which is being prepared for occupancy by the newly established City Hall Museum and Cultural Center. On behalf of the museum I would like to express our appreciation to you and to the boys for their very considerable help.

Pinto Shows Warped Wit

By Bobby Pinto

When we entered college, we all thought the boring bull-hockey from high school would diminish. But think again, it's increased. In high school you learned that you can't get through life unless you know what iambic pentameter is, who lost the election of 1840 or the dates of Charlemagne's empire. Yessirree, the real b.h. has begun.

English 101 is a goodun'. All those who have taken it are now prepared to write compositions, and you never know when the urge will hit you. (How many compositions does your English teacher write?) 101 is a trap. You're encouraged to combine thoughts. When you do, your paper becomes wordy and needs editing. And when you do that, you wind up with "short, choppy sentences." You are told to avoid "clever" titles for your composition because the meaning would not be clear. (How do you know it's clever if you don't know what it means, Doc?)

You are taught to get your point across clearly. If you think you have enough material for such emphasis, you're wrong. The teacher writes "vague" on your paper. And when you keep the word "vague" in mind, you wind up with a repetitious paper. What 101 amounts to is that you can't write your name with the risk of murdering the art of composition.

English 102 is even better. You learn the wonder of life through poems about girls in wheatfields, paintings of urns, and tiptoeing through the tulips. Most of us will go through 102 and 102 will go through us. Thus it will look the same going in as going out. Speaking of going out, the Devilbiss bathrooms are full of poetry and literature. So who needs 102?

'It's not nice to fool with us, Mother Nature...'

And let's not forget history. You know you won't sleep nights not knowing the history of Outer Mongolia. My idea of relevancy isn't writing term papers concerning the effect of the Napoleonic wars on the invasion of Iwo Jima. The interest of a class has to be questioned when the professors drink coffee to keep themselves awake.

Some students don't see the point of History 101-102. But it is worthwhile. As soon as you know what the Urdu language is, you'll be a successful millionaire tomorrow. But seriously, there is one big field where history majors can benefit: being history teachers. It's like learning to make a gwockna. Why do it? So you'll know how to make other gwocknas.

The idea behind such mandatory courses never changes — "We're going to enrich your lives whether you like it or not." If students could voluntarily take these courses there would be a sharp rise in unemployment. Going to college is like paying a great deal of money to get into an expensive restaurant and all they'll serve you is cod-liver oil.

VA To Demand Refunds From Vet. Dropouts

Veterans going to school under the GI bill now have a new incentive to complete their course work. If they don't, the Veterans Administration is going to demand full refunds from them.

In the past, if a veteran dropped courses and ended up carrying too few credit hours to qualify for his payments, the Veterans Administration paid for the courses until the date he dropped them.

However, under new legislation, the VA will be demanding retroactive refunds from any student who drops courses and takes fewer classroom hours than required for his VA payment. The amounts vary for full-time, three-quarter and half-time students.

Congress passed the legislation last year to reduce overpayment to veterans who dropped out of school or cancelled courses without informing the VA. Those overpayments totalled more than $2 billion since 1971, but the VA says it has managed to get almost 70 percent of the money back. The greatest overpayments amounted to $883 million in the year ending July 1, 1976.

The retroactive refund provision went into effect on December 1. The rule also applies in cases where a course is completed but the grade is ignored by the school for graduation purposes.

The penalty does not apply when the situation was caused by circumstances beyond the student's control.

No repayments for the past term can be collected for VA payments made before December 1. But for the current and future terms, the retroactive repayments can be assessed back to the start of the term.

Here at SSC, these new regulations mean that veteran students who earn "N" grades may be charged with overpayments to the beginning of the semester.

Veterans who wish additional information are asked to drop by the Veterans Affairs Office located in the Admissions Office of Caruthers Hall.

How To Get A Yearbook

By Joe Norton

To facilitate the distribution of the 1976 EVERGREEN, if and when it gets here, the yearbook staff announces a plan to get cleared to receive your copy of the EVERGREEN without a long wait in line, as if another hour will matter. Students who paid the full-time student's activity fee should come to the yearbook office in Room 213, Holloway Hall to receive a form that asks for name, local address, telephone number, and Social Security number. This information will be checked against the computer printout available to the yearbook staff for this purpose. If all is in order, the student will receive, by return mail, a "coupon" with which to pick up the yearbook. The student then brings this coupon and a student ID card validated for either of the semesters in the 1975 - 76 academic year to the distribution table in the lobby of the dining hall. Times and dates of distribution will be announced at a later date.

Forms may be picked up in the yearbook office from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on weekdays until Friday, February 25, 1977. If a student is not able to make it during these times for any reason (i.e. student teaching) another person may bring the requested information of the inconvenienced party and have the form filled out in the office. As usual, any questions or problems can be directed to the yearbook office in Holloway Hall or at campus extension 248.

ODK Opinion Poll

Students Unaware Of Activity Fee Use

Members of Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honor society on the SSC campus, feel that the student body and faculty are unsure of the opinions of their peers and associates concerning major issues of the college.

For this reason, members of ODK are conducting periodic polls of a percentage of the student body to determine where students stand on various issues. The results of these polls will appear in The Flyer.

The first area of concern on which students were polled was the question "Are you aware of the opportunities that are provided for you through your Student Activities fee?"

Of 174 residents questioned, 36.3% replied yes and 63.7% said no. Of the 69 non-resident students polled 49.3% said yes while 50.7% were not aware of what the Student Activities fee was used for.

Among the suggestions students offered to remedy this situation were that a detailed list should be published for all students and the areas funded should be revised, perhaps eliminating some. A few students suggested that bigger name bands be contracted for concerts.

Birth of a B.A.

How Social Work Became New Major

By Jill Clendaniel

Student apathy at Salisbury State College may be declining, at least in the new Social Work Department due in large part to the efforts of students pursuing the social work curriculum, the Board of Trustees of State Universities and Colleges of Maryland has now formally approved an undergraduate major in social work for SSC. The program will go in effect with May graduation, 1977.

The SSC Social Work curriculum developed as a result of the Board of Trustees' approval in March, 1970, of Sociology as an undergraduate major. This move permitted the student to obtain a degree in Sociology with courses in Social Work also.

Following a revision of some of the academic policies, a liberal studies program was introduced in May, 1972 as an alternative qualification for the Baccalaureate Degree. SSC then asked accreditation for its program by the National Council of Social Work Education (CSWE), which was received in 1973 through the addition of two faculty members and four additional course offerings in Social Work.

In 1974, the Department of Human Resources of the State of Maryland presented the college with a grant which enabled the department to hire three more social work faculty members. Most students interested in Social Work, at this time, opted to receive a degree in Liberal Studies with a concentration in Social Work.

However, with a legislation enacted by the General Assembly requiring licensing of social workers effective July 1, 1977, these arrangements became unsatisfactory. And because there was no recognized undergraduate major in Social Work, problems developed in the Office of the Registrar, as many Social Work student's majors were listed as "unknown."

In the Fall, 1976, concerned Social Work students formed a committee to seek recognition of social work as an undergraduate major. Letters and petitions were submitted to the College and to the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges, followed by weekly progress report meetings held with SSC President Norman C. Crawford.

Members of the faculty also encouraged this move. According to Elizabeth (B.B.) Mick, social work student and member of the committee to promote the Bachelor of Arts in Social Work (BASW), both Crawford and the faculty were "most supportive and cooperative."

The BASW was officially approved following the January 6, 1977 meeting of Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges. At this meeting, it was recommended that final approval be granted to offer an undergraduate program in Social Work, and SSC be immediately authorized to confer a Bachelor of Arts in Social Work so that students enrolled in the program will have fulfilled the academic requirements for graduation by May, 1977.

Previous Liberal Studies majors with a concentration in Social Work who have completed the professional program of Social Work as approved by the CSWE have been offered an opportunity to obtain a BASW if they consider it professionally preferable upon return of their Bachelor of Arts degree.

As with other majors, the undergraduate degree in Social Work requires the completion of 120 semester hours of course work, with 45 credit hours in General Education requirements, 33 in "core" Social Work courses, and 42 credit hours in electives. In addition, the program is divided into three phases. Phase One includes the academic requirements, Phase Two centers on Human service training and professional aspects of the program, and Phase Three concerns the

Students Support Move For Philosophy Major

By Walter Dabell

For some time the philosophy department has been discussing the possibility of offering philosophy as a major at SSC. After Academic Dean, A. Nayland Page expressed his approval and encouragement for the proposal, the philosophy department, started seeking support for the proposal.

The students' support was expressed in a letter to President Crawford from the executive board of the Philosophical Society (Marcy Losonezy, Jane McQuay, and Elizabeth Gavin).

The letter stated that "Since Salisbury

State College does have everything that is needed for a Philosophy major except the structured program, we students feel that we deserve the structured program as well." If all goes well, January 1978 will be the prospective date for the initiation of the program. The Academic Council has unanimously approved the proposal. It will be submitted to the Faculty Conference and the Board of Trustees of the Maryland State Colleges for their approval.

Commenting on how philosophy would benefit the student Miller said, "It has no immediate practical value, but it does give the student an intellectual discipline valuable to future employment." He added, "Philosophy is raising ultimate questions about existence." He said many students and faculty members believe it is nothing but "shooting the bull," but considering those questions in a thoughtful way can be of incalculable value both intellectually and personally." Philosophy challenges a student to actually think about his life, and to dialogue with the teacher instead of having information spoon-fed to him which he has to spit back," Miller said. If the student participates in the questioning, it can become a very liberating experience."

youth and family counseling aspects.

SSC's new Social Work Department is enjoying great popularity. Although in past years, the department has been unable to determine the exact number of social work majors, the program has increased from 34 students during the 1971-1972 academic year to 316 enrolled social work students during the Fall, 1976 semester.

Job Recruiters Return To SSC

By David Amann

Recruiters from various Boards of Education and private enterprise will again be on campus this spring, according to James C. Lackie, Director of the Career Development Center. The greatest number of the recruiters will be available to students during the months of March and April.

The recruiters will come from such diverse organizations as the Board of Education of Westmoreland County, Virginia, the U.S. Navy, several Life Insurance firms, and Perdue, Inc. The vast majority of these prospective employers come from outside the Delmarva area, although there are some opportunities here on the Shore.

The recruiters' presence on campus is made known to the students in several ways. The Weekly Newsletter carries information and is available at various locations on campus. Those students who maintain a "Credential File" at the Career Development Center or who are on the Center's mailing list are notified through the mail. The bulletin boards near the Center also have current information.

Lackie emphasized that the recruiters are brought on campus as a service to the students and that student interest is necessary to assure the continuation of the program. If no student interest is shown then the recruiters will be reluctant to return to Salisbury State.

"Getting an interview with a recruiter is no guarantee of getting a job," Lackie said. The interview on campus is only a vehicle through which the prospective employee and the student can get acquainted. The recruiter generally cannot hire but will recommend to his superiors students which he feels are qualified. Further interviews are required before a student is hired.

Theatre Presents "Twelfth Night"

The Salisbury State Theatre is now preparing its spring production, Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. One of the most beloved romantic comedies in the English language, Twelfth Night will be performed on March 18 and 19 and again on March 24, 25, 26, and 27. The production is directed by Leland Starnes, director of theatre at Salisbury State.

Twelfth Night, or What You Will, tells of the fanciful incidents that take place in Illyria, a strange land where a beautiful and witty girl, Viola is ship-wrecked at the beginning of the play. Illyria is conceived as a never never land where the typical person lives in a state of illusion or romantic delirium. The Duke, for example, is in love with love, believing himself dying of passion for the "sweet perfection" of the beautiful Countess Olivia.

With gentle, loving humor and in some of the most delightful characters in all of world theatre, Twelfth Night examines the frailty of all human beings as they try to see world as they would like to see it rather than as it is.

Robert K. Cloyd's set design for Twelfth Night presents a storybook castle which might have come from Camelot or from Snow White's fairyland. Both Cloyd and Costume Designer Carl O'Shea have derived inspiration and information from children's books illustrated by some of the world's most imaginative artists. Costume and set details for the production have been inspired in great part by children's fairy tales, the story of King Arthur, Walt Disney's films, and actual paintings from the medieval period.

Players featured in Twelfth Night include Cathie Adkins as Olivia, Jeff Rollins as the Duke, Jane Ferguson as Viola, Bill Kerns as Sir Toby Belch, Joe Mancuso as Sir Andrew, and Leland Starnes as Malvolio. Other players are Deborah Brown, Timothy Dykes, Gary Weber, and John Wagner.

The Theatre Box Office will open on March 7, in the Holloway Hall theatre lobby. Reservations may be made by calling 546-3261, ext. 498. As Twelfth Night is of particular interest to high schools and colleges, special discount rates will be made available to teachers interested in bringing groups of students to the production. Group reservations may be made in advance of the public opening of the box office by calling the Box Office Manager, Miss Colleen Grimmell, at 546-3251 ext. 497.

Mystics Speech By Post Editor

Washington Post editor and columnist Colman McCarthy will lecture in Holloway Hall tomorrow night at 8 p.m. He is the first speaker in the Philosophical Society annual lecture series.

The theme of this year's lectures is mysticism and McCarthy will talk about "How to be a Mystic."

In addition to his work at the Post, McCarthy is a nationally known lecturer and the author of two books, Inner Companions and Disturbers of the Peace: Profiles in Non-Adjustment.

Commenting on McCarthy's profound investigation into the human experience, Robert Coles, himself a renowned sociologist, and author of the introduction of Mr. McCarthy's second book, describes this "gifted and sensitive" writer's style as "clarifying, both morally instructive and factually sound."

SGA Meeting This Afternoon

Action taken at the last SGA meeting:
The SGA has made a request for a progress report on the "dead week" policy from the Academic Council.

Due to a conflict with the administration, the Telephone Co. will not lay cable for hook-up of WSSC to Chesapeake Complex, so we will have to install our own.

Approximately 1000 Student Buying Power Cards are left and additional distribution hours will be scheduled for those students who have not yet gotten one.

Many requests have been received for a "first-rate" band for the Spring Formal. The CCPB committee is considering having the Admirals whose fee is $3500-$3900 for a one night show. The additional cost for the band could be covered by an additional SGA allocation or increased ticket sales.

The Faculty Organization and Rules Committee have proposed a campus Senate type of Government for the SSC campus which would combine the faculty, students, and administration into one governing body. Student input is invited.

The Commuter Carpool program has been written and is ready for use as soon as a system can be arranged to have commuters submit their names, addresses, and schedules.

The SGA general board will meet this afternoon at 5:30 p.m. in room 149 Devilbiss Hall. Items on the agenda include approval of the Inter-Greek Council constitution, a request for additional funds for the Scarab, and a request for money for a band for Spring Formal.

CCPB Activities

Things Aren't Going As Planned

By Lisa Beard

During the '75-'76 school year the College Center Program Board has been plagued with its share of problems.

As many recall, the musical group Timberline has been scheduled twice only to be cancelled both times. The first cancellation was due to the group's being involved in a car accident causing damage to their musical instruments.

The second time they were to play here earlier this month their agent cancelled because it was a "block booking" and all the other schools were closed due to the energy crisis. They were replaced with Morning Song, a highly rated group.

In October a concert was scheduled with the groups Pablo Cruise and Circus. Pablo Cruise cancelled because the group broke up and Circus was in a car accident. The concert was rescheduled for two weeks later, with the groups Meisberg and Walters and Sailor performing.

Ed Bailey, CCPB concert chairman said, "These cancellations are not unusual in the music industry but it is unusual that all this happens at SSC in one year." A problem with these cancellations is the decision whether or not to cancel a concert or replace the band. Replacement bands must agree to play without being paid for approximately three weeks. The state of Maryland requires that checks must not be written until a certain waiting period. Another problem is finding a band in such a short time. Scheduled bands are booked a considerable time before a performance.

Bus trips scheduled by the CCPB have been sell-outs but other scheduled trips have not been as successful. The camping trip scheduled earlier this year was cancelled due to lack of interest. The ski trip to Vermont was disappointing. This was probably due to the expense of the trip. The Caribbean cruise was cancelled because of problems with the booking agency.

What used to be referred to as a mini-course is now known as "Try this." At the beginning of this program it was felt that the courses were disorganized and there seemed to be the misconception that students were not interested in crafts. The definition of mini-course seems to be a problem said chairperson of the lecture and culture committee Linda Haught. "Many feel that these courses are supposed to reach 300 students but this course is designed and limited for small numbers," she said.

The CCPB members are concerned with the misuse of the tickets for the Baltimore Symphony. The school buys 175 tickets for this program. The tickets are expensive and it has become obvious that not even one half of these tickets are used by students. They are being given to parents, relatives and friends. The next appearance of the Baltimore Symphony it will be impossible for students to give away tickets, because ID must be accompanied with ticket by each student at the door.

Members of the College Center Board claim the major problems they face are lack of interest by the students. This may be caused by not giving the students what they want or by being located in Chester where it may not be convenient for many.

Ask Students To Design WSSC Bumper Stickers

WSSC radio's long awaited bumper stickers will soon be here, with a little help. WSSC is looking for creative, artistic students to submit designs for the station's planned bumper sticker.

The best design will win "lots of albums," said Mike Hartmann, WSSC's public relations director. The contest is open to all SSC students, with the exception of WSSC staff members and the winning entry will be selected by the executive board of WSSC.

Things to remember when designing an entry; size: 3 1/2 inches by 15 inches, school colors: maroon and gold, station call letters: WSSC, and the local on the dial; 73 am and 107.5 cafm. Entries should be mailed to WSSC radio, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD. 21801, no later than Tuesday, March 1, 1977. "This contest is good, because it involves the student body and will also generate good publicity for the station," said Hartmann. Hartmann said the spring schedule is rounding out and a permanent schedule may soon be published. He mentioned some shows SSC students might be interested in.

Dave Kanaar, a new-comer can be heard Tuesdays from 5 to 6:30 and Bill Bauer also a new discovery can be heard from 3-5 on Mondays. Kris Messick and her "Homegrown" show always proves to be something different on Wednesday from 5-7. Bill Horne and his jazz show is featured every Thursday from 5 to 6:30. ### "A Day At The Races"

You Can Bet On It—Queen's A Winner

A Day At The Races by Queen, featuring Freddie Mercury (vocals, piano, choir, master, tantrums); Brian May (guitars, vocals, leader of the orchestra); Roger Taylor (drums, vocals, percussion, pandemonium); John Deacon (fender bass). Songs include: "Tie Your Mother Down", "Somebody To Love", "White Man", "Good Old-Fashioned Lover Boy", and

"Teo Toriatte (Let Us Cling Together)". On the Elektra/Asylum Label.

Still wondering as to just what going "Ga-Ga" entails? In explanation of this phenomenon, I suggest that you listen to Queen's new album—A Day At The Races. Being rather homegrown in nature and personal musical taste, I actually motivated myself the morning after attending the Queen concert at the Cole Fieldhouse in College Park, to the local record shop to purchase their new recording. Amazing! The show was fantastic. Truly professional sounding lyrics with incredible instrumentation and speaker sound effects made the evening a most enjoyable one, to say the least.

Freddie Mercury, the main-man of Queen, is a genius at the keyboards. One minute he's composed, very orchestra-like, with flowing fingers on those ivory keys. Next glance, Freddie's bellowing out the immortal words—"The minute you walked in the place..."—add a burlesque strut, and the house was a'rocking like the Terps could only have wished for. It was Mercury who set the Billboard Charts on fire with the hit song "Somebody To Love", a great tune, but only a small sample of what A Day At The Races is all about.

Brian May, Queen's lead guitarist, is another genius, obvious when he picks the strings of his personally-made guitar, fashioned out of 100 year-old wood. May wrote the lyrics and instrumentals of the fantastic cut "White Man", reminiscent of Paul Revere and the Raiders' "Indian Reservation". "Teo Toriatte (Let Us Cling Together)" was also written by May, conveying a pleasant Japanese sentiment to Love and such.

Mr. Roger Taylor is to be commended on his moving song "Drowse", a laid-back guitar melody to enjoy on any Sunday afternoon when the action is slow and time to be forgotten.

John Deacon, the bass player for Queen, is also represented well in his tune "You and I". Each and every member of the band is a genius in himself, I'm sure you'll agree, once you've heard their (smac) smash recording A Day At The Races.

Also of great importance is the special version of my Homegrown Show to be broadcast this Wednesday evening on WSSC, 107.5 CAFM, 73 AM on campus. At exactly 5 p.m., I will personally introduce to you a FIRST TIME locally heard theme song, dedicated to the Homegrown spirit in Life by those two Clovercroft cowboys—Sheriff Donnie and his brother Dennis Winters! That's right! The Homegrown Show now has an exclusive "Homegrown Song" performed and recorded by the Winters Brothers Band in Wilmington, North Carolina just last month. I'll have a taped LIVE interview with the band this Wednesday at 5 p.m., only on WSSC—just for you! Don't miss the fun and sounds!

He said he felt the 1970 recommendation had a unifying effect on the campus and the surrounding community. "The same is likely to happen in Princess Anne," said Crawford.

GODFATHER PART II
FEBRUARY 25, 1977

Godfather Part II is a sequel to the original movie while it also explains by flashbacks the early life of Vito Corleone (Robert De Niro). It shows Vito's flight from the Sicilian vendetta, his childhood in New York and his drive to become the Godfather. Vito was played in the Godfather by Marlon Brando.

The movie begins with the first communion of Michael Corleone's son. An attempt is made on Michael's (Al Pacino) life. The setting is Lake Tahoe where Michael has moved in order to run casino operations in Nevada.

Michael Corleone inherits his father's empire. The movie parallels the rise of Vito and Michael. The outcome shows how cold Michael becomes. He gives up everything that once meant something to him in order to have power.

A major conflict is gambling syndicate Boss Hyman's (Lee Strasberg) threats on Michael's life. This leads to threats on the lives of both men and ends finally with a shoot-out at an airport.

The film shows incredible performances by Al Pacino and Robert De Niro. The movie produced by Francis Coppola also includes stars Diane Keaton and Talia Shire.

"The Godfather Part II is a worthy successor to its predecessor. Francis Coppola has made a richly detailed intelligent film that uses overorganized crime as a metaphor to comment on the coldness and corruption of an overorganized modern world." Richard Schickel, Time Magazine.

THREE DAYS OF THE CONDOR
MARCH 18, 1977

Robert Redford stars in Three Days of The Condor. Redford plays the part of Turner, an intelligent C.I.A. worker who reads for a living.

One day Turner leaves to buy lunch for the members of his office only to return and find everyone slaughtered. He immediately realizes it is another branch of the C.I.A. and that they are out to kill him, also.

Redford kidnaps a woman, Kathy (Faye Dunaway), and hides in her apartment. He goes through a period of believing that everyone wants him dead. He eventually trusts Kathy and she offers her help.

The reasons for killing Redford become known and relate to his work. The killers fear his knowledge. Throughout the movie Redford runs while trying to determine who is against him and who is not.

The movie is directed by Sydney Pollack. Other stars include Cliff Robertson, Max Von Sydow and John Houseman.

Meeting for prospective nurses

The Nursing Department will hold a meeting for all prospective nursing majors on Thursday, March 3, 1977 at 7 p.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall. Admissions criteria, policies for nursing majors, and nursing courses will be presented. Application forms for admission to the major will be available. Any prospective student who cannot attend should contact his or her advisor or the Department secretary. Following the meeting, refreshments will be served and the faculty will be available for informal discussion.

Spring Break!

Salisbury State College will close for Spring Break after the last class on Friday, March 4. The dorms will reopen on Sunday, March 13 and classes will resume on Monday, March 14. The next edition of The Flyer will be out on March 23. The deadline for this issue is Friday, March 18.

Wanted: Vietnam Vets

Mr. L. E. Nagel, the area coordinator for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, would like to talk to young Viet Nam vets about organizing a new V.F.W. post in the Salisbury/Princess Anne area. The new chapter would be run for and by younger veterans. Contact Mr. Nagel at 742-7381 or the Veterans Affairs Office on campus for further information.

Anyone for a Swim?

The pool in the new Physical Activities Center is expected to open some time this week. There are a few cracks in the tile, apparently caused by the great weight of the water, but the college plans to accept the pool and begin using it for classes next Monday. The pool will then be drained and the cracks repaired during Spring Break.

CCPB Nominations Still Open

The College Center Program Board is still accepting nominations for 12 positions on the board up for election next week. Among the posts open are chairmen of the film, social, cultural, lecture, concert, Mini-Course, Recreation and Travel, and Coffeehouse committees, as well as public relations and publicity chairmen. Vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer will also be elected next Tuesday and Wednesday. Nominations close Friday afternoon.

Beatlemania Strikes SSC

On March 17, John Paul, Ringo and George will appear at SSC in the highly rated "Film-Concert". "Welcome Back Beatles". The "Film Concert" will be presented three times in Holloway Hall auditorium. There will be a show from 3:30-5 p.m. to accomodate commuting students, with two more from 7-8:30 p.m. and 9:30-11 p.m. Students will be admitted free with I. D. and admission for the public will be $2 at the door.

This is a visual concert which is projected on three giant screens and immerses the audience in sound. The Beatles had many meanings behind their songs. The concert enables the viewer to delve into and explore the minds of the Beatles one last time in concert, as well as find out about their private lives. Live concert sequences were filmed and behind the scenes photos were taken and put together along with a presentation which helps answer many questions about the Beatles and their songs.

The Washington Post called it "Academy Award material, unbelievable, the most incredible show I've ever seen." The Herald said, "Here's the proof of why the Beatles are the greatest musical geniuses in history."

Date Set For RHA To Hold Annual "Las Vegas Night"

By Pat Bailey

Plans are in the works for the fourth annual "Las Vegas Night". It will be held on Saturday, April 2, in Tawes gymnasium from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

The gym will be decorated to look like a Las Vegas night club. There will be gambling with play money and entertainment. Beer will be available. Two of the games that will be included in the games room area are black jack and craps.

At the conclusion of the evening, there will be an auction in the games room area for gifts and prizes which have been donated to the Residence Hall Association, which is sponsoring the event. With the money each gambler has accumulated during the evening, he or she will be able to compete in bidding for the prizes.

Dinner for four at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Norman C. Crawford, Jr.,

dinner with C. Audrey Stewart, associate dean of student affairs, and dinner with Orem E. Robinson, dean of student affairs are a few of the prizes that will be offered. Johnny and Sammy's will provide dinner for the highest bidders. Gift certificates from Champs, Ginos, and Arby's will be auctioned off, as well as a Happy Hour, courtesy of the Royal Exchange Pub and cases of beer.

"Like so many other functions, help is needed to make this activity a success," said Dave Bollinger, vice president of the RHA. "This can only be done, however, with the help of students, faculty, administrators and staff. With this help, Las Vegas Night will have the successes it has had in previous years."

Anyone who is interested in helping should send a note through free campus mail to Box 58, Chesapeake Dorm.

Sea Gulls Fly Into Rough Weather Tatterson Reigns Queen Of Courts

By Randy Barnhart

After getting off to a great start, the SSC basketball team has gone downhill, losing the last four out of five games. The last two games of their season were played against two nationally ranked teams: Towson State and Baltimore. It's been a good season for the Gulls, as they saw potential for the future with freshman Juan Gabourel. Mike Lille also saw consistent action throughout the season.

Probably the biggest surprise in the season was Al Tomlin. His showmanship proved to be pleasing to the crowd as well as the scoreboard. Tyrone Mills played consistent ball during the entire season. Mills averaged approximately 18 points per game and was always there when a key play was needed.

6'2" Dave Garafola averaged 13 points per game but led the team with assists. Garafola was sidelined earlier this season with the flu and that hurt his average considerably. SSC's strong man under the boards was Gary Kelly. Though not a high point scorer, Kelly led the Gulls in the rebound column.

February 7, the Gulls voyaged to Randolph-Macon in what turned out to be a field day for Gabourel. The 6'3" freshman led the team with 34 points and four rebounds. But his shooting was not enough as the Gulls went down in defeat. Final score: Randolph-Macon 85, SSC 73.

The Gulls came home to play UMES three days later. This traditional rivalry drew 1850 fans to the new Physical Activities Center at Salisbury. That was the largest crowd ever to watch a basketball game at SSC. At the half, UMES led by three. Tempers were flaring on the court as well as off. Tomlin thrilled the crowd with his daring style of play that night. He had many key steals which led to the Salisbury victory. Gabourel attained his season high by scoring 35 points. Mills had 17 points and 12 rebounds. Final score: SSC 89, UMES 83.

Next on the Gulls' schedule was York College. Playing away from home, the Gulls just couldn't seem to put together a scoring attack. Gabourel and Mills each had 14 points. Joe Schmidt had a good game, adding eight points and an amazing 17 rebounds. Schmidt is one of the team's higher rebounders. York still dominated the game and went on to win, 97-64.

Things were not looking good for the Gulls and did not get much better. In SSC's last home game of the season, Towson State came to town. In the NCAA Division II ranking, Towson is rated as being Number 1. Earlier this season when Towson hosted Salisbury, the Gulls were easily defeated by a margin of 44 points. However, at Salisbury it was a somewhat different story.

Salisbury led Towson during the majority of the first half and went into the locker room, 40-34. To the fans this was

Pre-Season Outlook On Lacrosse

By Randy Barnhart and Geoff Baker

Head Coach: Andy Jones
Assistant Coaches: Tom Korn, Tom Leanos, and Jim McKittrick
Co-Captains: Dave Cottle and Larry Redding
Last Year's Record: 4 - 9
Flyer Prediction for 1977: 10 - 4

Spring is in the air and so are lacrosse balls at SSC. Once again, Coach Andy Jones will be at the helm of the team. In greatest asset of his team was, he replied simply, "Desire." Lacrosse at Salisbury has always been big and this year's team is no exception. The team is a closely knit group. The majority of them eat, party, and socialize together and that pays off during games.

The Gulls will be encountering some very tough teams throughout the season. Coach Jones has had the team practicing since late January and that conditioning should help on the field. Salisbury does not have the selection of players that big colleges with scholarships offer, so they

Six-footer Carl Balton has shown to be a good attackman and his stickhandling is excellent. Dave Temple is a newcomer to lacrosse but does not play like it. Temple, a veteran of the SSC Football team, made the transition to lacrosse and brought his spirit and hustle with him. Playing in mid-field will be Bill Bauer. One of the shorter men on the team, Bauer makes up for his size with aggressiveness.

New to the team is Lewis Scharff. While in high-school he was named to the All-Prep Virginia team. Scharff will be handling the midfield position and fill in spots on the extra man situations. He has been a pleasant surprise to the SSC Lacrosse team. Just recently moved up to the Varsity is freshman Dave Bateman. Watching him in practice, one can see that he has good stickwork along with a very powerful shot.

Attackman Russ Bell, a transfer student from New York has hit the lacrosse scene at SSC. Bell is a very sly performer on the field with many good moves and passes. Returning from last year is sophomore middle Mark Roskam. Last season, Roskam had 15 goals and two assists. He'll be expected to be a good performer again this year. Backing up Dave Hearn in the goal will be Clifford "Bo Bo" Bock. A junior, Bock has shown good ability in the crease and the talent to come out and attack the ball.

Harry Peterson will be playing in the defense position. He has the ability to reinforce the team with consistent chatter. Peterson has good stickwork that is needed one of the more versatile players on the team.

James Peters will be very valuable to lacrosse at SSC for his amazing endurance and is expected to fill in the extra man defense spots.

Sal Filippelli will be filling in on the defensive position and is very pleasing to Jones. Filippelli is expected to see a lot of action this year. Also back this year is senior Steve Pappas. Pappas gives good incentive to his teammates and helps keep their spirit up. His excellent stickwork and passing ability is a big asset to SSC. Pappas is one of the biggest men on the team and has speed that is unheard of for men of his size. His endurance will provide an added extra in key games. Many of his fans reside on the third floor of Pocomoke Hall, where Pappas lived during the fall semester.

Wayne Gorow, a transfer student from upstate New York has brought along with him a style that shows his ability to hustle and penetrate. Gorow will be manning the attack slot for Salisbury. Stewart Moan is also an excellent attackman. He has a style that sets him apart from other players in that he has very fluid movements and an ability to show others "the way." In the goal this year will be senior goalie Dave Hearn. This year Hearn is a legitimate all-American candidate. Hearn has a cockiness that is not falsely placed. He is tremendous in the goal with motions that are like a machine. With Hearn in the goal, other teams will have a job ahead of them to score.

Six seniors will be playing for SSC and they will be trying to help Salisbury attain national ranking in lacrosse. In 1976, Salisbury finished 13th in the college polls.

The Captains of the team are Dave Cottle and Larry Redding. Cottle, an All-American attackman, scored 47 goals and had 29 assists last year. Redding, one of the better hustlers on the team shows a lot of incentive and encourages his teammates.

Tennis Team Good Despite Lack Of Experience

By Cindy Craig

"I really felt this year's team was going to have a great season, but due to a few top players not returning we're not as strong as we would have been," commented Dean Burroughs, coach of the men's 1977 tennis team. "What this team doesn't have in physical ability, they make up for in desire and hustle."

Competing for the top six positions are Chris Thomas, Bill Hyle, Larry Knopf, Terry Layton, Wray Cannaday, Bryan Edmondson and Gene Malone. The team has been practicing for only three weeks.

Larry Knopf, a sophomore from Dover, Delaware, will fill the number one position. Knopf, already a strong player, has improved his net game and is now a more complete player. He was an All Conference player in 1976.

Junior Chris Thomas is considered as the hardest hitter on the team. He has developed more consistency this year which has made him a more complete player.

Bill Hyle, senior, has been valuable to the team in both doubles and singles. He and former teammate Greg Robinson are listed in the Guinness Book of World Records for their endurance tennis play. Hyle was an All Conference player in 1976.

Terry Layton, a sophomore from Salisbury, Md., is the most consistent player on the team. He possesses an all round strong repertoire of strokes.

Senior Wray Cannaday has been an All Conference player for the past two years. He was the only player to win singles and doubles conference championships last year. Cannaday has won more conference matches than any player in Seagull history. Completely recovered from an injury last season, Cannaday is expected to have a good year.

As a junior, Bryan Edmondson has become a seasoned player. He has become a steady player and has the knack of pulling out impossible points.

Gene Malone, a sophomore, is steadily improving after a good fall season. He will be seeing plenty of varsity action.

Frank Fleming, Bruce Matter and Tom Zinn will be seeing a lot of action as well as Kirk Miller, Gayland Anderson, Paul Urian and Steve Morris who will provide depth to the team. The major drawback one could find in the team is that they lack experience.

The number one doubles team will consist of Chris Thomas and Larry Knopf. The number two doubles team will be Wray Cannaday and Bryan Edmondson or Gene Malone.

The team leaves for the Carolinas during spring break where they will be playing six matches in six days. Due to the weather, the team has been practicing indoors. Coach Burroughs would like to start practicing outdoors to help the team to adjust to the different surfaces.

"Our objective is to win the conference championship. We have done this the past two years. This year is our best schedule yet. We will be playing non-conference schools such as The Citadel, College of Charleston, Bloomsburg State and Howard University," said Burroughs. "George Mason, Catholic University and Towson are expected to be our top challengers. I'm looking forward to a good season."

Grapplers Pin Down 12-4-1 Record

SSC's wrestling team has done well this season, racking up a 12-4-1 record (Staff Photo by Keller).

"I'm very pleased with the way we've wrestled this year," said wrestling coach, Mike McGlinchey. "I think this season's team has been one of the most aggressive and confident teams that Salisbury State College has ever had."

On Saturday, February 12, Salisbury went up against Rider College, Glassboro State, and Kean in New Jersey. The Gulls were taken by Rider, 27-16. After leading 16-15 with three matches to go, Salisbury was unable to score a point. Against Glassboro, the score was tied 13-13. Sophomore Mark Allen at 190 pounds fought to a 5-5 draw. Junior Doug Gills, normally a 190 pounder was defeated 3-2 in the heavyweight division. With that loss Glassboro came out on top 18-15. In the final match of the day, Salisbury took Kean 35-11. The Sea Gulls now stand 12-4-1 for the season.

Tonight Salisbury will host Division I team University of Delaware. This Friday and Saturday, the Mason-Dixon Conference Championships will be held at Salisbury for the second straight year.

This year's big surprise was Mark Jarosz. An undefeated freshman, his record stands at 15-0. Wrestling at 167 pounds he has scored six pins and three major decisions. Jarosz beat two All-Americans to clinch an 8-4 victory over Glassboro State's Julio Castellanos, his first defeat in two years.

Also doing extremely well is junior Craig Bradley, standing at 12-2 including three pins at 134 and 142. Wrestling at 177 pounds is sophomore Dean Cox. Cox has maintained a good season with his record standing at 11-4. Freshman Eddie Bailey wrestling at 118 pounds has also had a good season with his record standing at 10-3-1. Bob Shaw, also a freshman is 12-2-1 including four pins despite moving from 134 to 142 pounds halfway through the season. And, junior Mike Garcia, who wrestles in the heavyweight division has a 9-1 record, including five pins. Because of illness Garcia was missed on February 12, as two of the three heavyweight matches made the difference between victory and defeat.

Mystics Continued from Page 5

"With Inner Companions, Coleman McCarthy has written fifty-three essays on poets, philosophers, artists, saints, dissenters, and others who can't be classified. Some are well-known, like Carl Jung, Sean O'Casey, St. Teresa, or Emma Goldman, but others are obscure — Claude McKay, Sigrid Undset, John Muir, Florida Scott-Maxwell. All, are worthy of the caring and thoughtful attention Colman McCarthy affords them!

McCarthy's editorials for the Washington Post are widely known as profiles of people who have refused to adjust to standards they believe are wrong. Mr. McCarthy feels that these people share "an awareness of the importance of the small encroachments on our liberties, and a quiet determination to resist with all their strength."

Dan Gladding. Ro McKnew is on Saturdays from 3-6 followed by Chris Piazza from 6-8. Steve Carey, starts Saturdays and Sundays off from 12-3 and is followed by Jeff Noble on Sundays from 3-6.

Hartmann said, "We'd also like to give to Bill Martin of the college bookstore for his help in promotion and the many albums he has made available to the station for promotion."
